

Kenexa's BrassRing

Kenexa, a provider of recruitment and retention solutions, unveiled details of the latest version of Kenexa Recruiter BrassRing, Kenexa's on-demand talent management system tailored for global organizations to source and track employment candidates through the hiring process.

The latest release of the software-as-a-service (SaaS) solution delivers functional enhancements that support the needs of corporate recruiters, hiring managers, job candidates and staffing agencies. Many enhancements have been made to the user interface to streamline the common tasks of frequent and infrequent system users.

Kenexa Recruiter BrassRing now allows users to personalize search screens and display data to suit their usage patterns. New customer-controlled workflow capabilities for job candidate and requisitions automatically communicates hiring process status to candidates, simplifies job board posting management through triggered events and delivers up-to-the-moment candidate information to system users through eLinks. These capabilities can prevent candidates from getting "stuck" in the hiring process, reduce candidate status inquiries and enhance business value from job board postings. All events and communications are completely auditable.

This release expands Kenexa Recruiter BrassRing's language support to 29 languages. www.kenexa.com
